

THE LESTER PIANO

responds to the lightest touch of the fingers. The mechanical parts are absolutely perfect. They perform their part of the work under all circumstances, and in all climates. Change of temperature and other weather conditions have no effect on the strings. Nothing can spoil the rich, mellow tone. It is a piano made to last, etc.

Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wire—less On the Streets of Anderson.

A special opening program is being arranged by the A. W. Bailey Five and Ten Cent Store, to celebrate the remodeling of this attractive bargain house. Special music will be furnished throughout the day and there will be events of interest to attract the crowd.

Mrs. Cora Spake of Greenville, has arrived in Anderson to assume a position with the local telephone office. Mrs. Spake will have entire supervision of the local central office and will doubtless prove valuable in this position.

Chas. W. Wells, who has been confined to his home for the last few weeks with a severe attack of la grippe, was able to be out on the streets yesterday and it is hoped that he will soon be entirely recovered. Mr. Wells has had a long and tedious spell and the news that he is now convalescent will be welcomed by his friends.

It was stated yesterday, following a meeting of the Anderson board of health, that application will at once be made to the city council to have the membership of the board reduced, this fact being due to the impression that the present large membership of the board makes the body unwieldy. There are now ten members of the board and the request will ask that this meeting be reduced to five. At this same meeting the resignation of D. H. Russell as a member of the board was accepted and J. M. Paget, whose term has expired, announced that he would offer for re-election.

E. W. Harper, Jr., a well known young man who is connected with the Furman Glass power company, was yesterday discharged from the Anderson county hospital. Mr. Harper was badly injured in the explosion which occurred at Portman Shoals in December, sustaining some painful burns. For a time his condition was regarded as quite serious and his many friends are rejoicing over the fact that he has now completely recovered. He went to his home in Lowndesville yesterday, where he will spend a few days recuperating before resuming his work.

According to the cotton report which has just been issued by L. A. Bolt, the number of bales of cotton ginned in Anderson county prior to January 16, 1914, reaches 70,688. Up to this date last year the records show that there were 53,131 bales ginned.

Deputy Sheriff Olin Sanders returned yesterday from Gastonia, N. C., where he went after Doc Brown, wanted in Anderson county for murder. The North Carolina officials were holding Brown on a charge of assault and battery and it was necessary that requisition papers be secured before the negro could be brought back. The first trip to the North Carolina town was made by Sheriff Ashley.

An Anderson man who has been on a Northern trip relating an incident that happened on a Pullman car said that he had never been subjected to such an outrage in his life. He entered the toilet of the car to perform his morning ablutions when imagine his surprise to find a coal-black negro shaving before the mirror. The person of dusky hue enquired of the Anderson man if he did not find the weather rather warm, whereupon the local citizen is said to have informed him that it would be a d—n sight warmer in a few minutes. He entered a protest with the conductor and had the Ethiopian removed at a North Carolina way-station.

VEXING QUESTION
ALMOST SETTLED

Representative Hall Agrees To Replace Important Bill on House Calendar

By a unanimous vote the house of representatives of South Carolina yesterday agreed to restore the Anderson abutting property bill to the calendar and this assures the bill of going to a third reading, which in this case will practically amount to an assurance of its passage. This action yesterday was taken by the house at Representative Hall's request.

The delegation of Anderson business men who went from this city Monday night, namely: Lee G. Holleman, C. M. McClure, Porter A. Whaley, M. M. Mattison, W. L. Brissett, W. A. Hudgens, William Banks, T. Frank Watkins, B. B. Gossett, R. C. McKinney and K. P. Smith, appeared yesterday morning at nine o'clock in the agriculture committee room of the house and held a joint session with the Anderson delegation, the entire delegation being present. After discussing the bill for some time, in all its various phases, it was decided by the member of the house who had the bill withdrawn, Representative Hall, that he would have it replaced on the calendar. He stated, however, that he would insist on one amendment being added and this was agreed to. This amendment will say that the question must be submitted to the people of Anderson city for their vote, after the constitutional amendment has been voted on throughout the State.

The plan of the local delegation was presented in an able manner by T. Frank Watkins and Kurtz Smith, these gentlemen acting as spokesmen for the party.

The other bill, which related to a good roads bond issue for the county, was not touched upon by the local delegation yesterday. They determined that they would leave this part of legislation entirely in the hands of the Anderson representatives, but more especially in the care of Representative Josh Ashley.

Masonic Officers
Have Been Selected

Anderson people are somewhat interested in the progress made by the Masonic lodge at Clemson College, by reason of the fact that the Anderson lodge had charge of instituting the new lodge. Elaborate exercises were held in Anderson a short time ago to institute this lodge, at which time some of the most prominent Masons in the state were present. The following is a list of the newly elected officers of the Living Arch Chapter No. 21, Royal Arch Masons:

S. M. Martin, H. P. A. Bramlett, K. C. S. Lykes, S. O. R. Doyle, C. H. B. F. Robertson, P. S. R. L. Sweeney, R. A. C. P. S. Colium, M. V. M. T. Birch, M. V. J. I. Crowther, M. V. A. Schlieter, Treasurer; W. W. Klugh, Secretary; H. C. Goodson, Stewards.

The officers of the local Blue Lodge of Masons are: H. A. Sloan, W. M. A. Bramlett, S. W. C. S. Lykes, J. W. S. W. Evans, Secretary; J. C. Littlejohn, Treasurer; W. B. Lawrence, S. D.; R. L. Sweeney, J. D.; H. C. Goodman, T.; W. W. Klugh and L. O. Watson, Eltewarts.

FANS ARE CRYING
FOR NEW CIRCUIT

Proposed Georgia-Carolina League Would Make a "Go" is the General Opinion

Throughout the towns and cities embraced in the proposed Georgia-Carolina baseball league, there is much enthusiasm being shown. When the new league was first proposed the "calamity howler" was decidedly on the job and insisted that such a proposition was out of the question; that the people living in the towns that would constitute the membership of the league had already lost enough money on baseball; that the fans were unwilling to risk any more money on a baseball proposition and that in short the entire country had "gone to the dogs" as far as any baseball proposition is concerned. However these people have at last been silenced and the general opinion now seems to be that if any one town will start the ball to rolling, other towns will drop in line and the coming summer will see some real first-class, live baseball in the Georgia and Carolina towns.

In Greenville the fans are "hearing to go" and say that they will be ready when the flag drops. In other towns they are usually an anxious for the league as is seen by the following paragraph from Spartanburg: Baseball enthusiasm is being aroused in Spartanburg over a six-city league, composed of Spartanburg, Greenville, Anderson, Columbia, Augusta and other towns. The fans here are desirous of seeing such a circuit organized, but the disastrous financial experience of those who backed a team in the Carolina association makes them hesitate about sinking their money in another baseball scheme. However, the large mass of the citizens favor the proposed league, and plans are now making to start a campaign to secure enough financial backing to put a winning team in the field should the scheme for the formation of a six-city circuit carry.

Galvanized Metal Roofing and Siding Material

Modern Progress demands more and better buildings. As good timber becomes more scarce and masonry more expensive, naturally the investigative mind is looking for a better and more economical building material that not only will give the maximum of protection at a minimum cost, but will also carry with it those additional features desired in such better buildings, but lacking in so many of the materials being used at the present time. This had led to the introduction of metal Roofing and Siding Materials as high grade building products worthy of the most favorable consideration.

CORRUGATED SHEETS are the strongest and most used of all forms of Sheet metal Roofing or Siding.

Sheathing is not essential; Corrugated Sheets are easily and rapidly applied.

These V-Crimped Roofing Sheets are very much superior to the V-Crimped Roofing generally sold. It is very much stronger, and much less liable to leak.

FULL WEIGHT SHEETS—This is an important feature and a decided advantage to every user of roofings. Many unscrupulous manufacturers have put on the market products very much lighter than standard weights. The results have been unsatisfactory service, and criticisms of Metal Roofings and Sidings.

In the purchase of this material QUALITY IS OUR CHIEF AIM.

Two cars of these roofing sheets just received. We are offering this material at reduced prices.

THE TERRIBLE CASE OF MIKE MULLIKAN.

Down about old Boston town, in the district of Back Bay, Mike Mullikan had his being, and also ran a dray. But the Fates one day got after Mike, they would not let him be, and so one fine morning he had the pleurisy. Then followed coughs, sore throat and colds, and finally gripe and boils, and sunburn inflammation then—they they got him in their coils, Mike also got some bruises, corns, business burns and sprains, he had rheumatic symptoms and lumbago gave him pains. Neuritis, toothache, felons, crowded fast upon his ill, tonsillitis and pneumonia then snatched him off his axis. The doctor said bronchitis, too, would come most any day, and it looked like Mike might have a job of riding his own dray. But just as death began to dance and mourners all looked grim, a kindly good old neighbor said: "Try Gowan's stuff on him." And so they took beloved Mike and rubbed him hard all day, and Mike sings Gowan's praises now, and Mike still drives his dray.
